STOCKS RALLY

Steels the Feature at New High Prices.

EARLY MARKET REACTIONARY

A Few Noteworthy Declines in a General Selling Movement-London a Purchaser of Americans or Balance-Locomotive Shares Make Good Gains.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 .- During the first hour today's Stock Market price movement was somewhat irregular, but in the main a firm tone prevailed. This, however, was followed by a selling movement, and in a few instances noteworthy declines were recorded.

London has sold about 10,000 shares of stocks today and bought about 15,000. The largest purchases were of United States Steel. There are many believers in the theory that Keene or others strengthened the steel stocks this morning for the purpose of marketing the general list. But the case with which it rallied casts deredit on this view.

Traders were the principal sellers Union Pacific on decline, subsequent the opening. Manhattan was offered dow was scarcely up to last week's standar Colorado and Southern issues were stroon continued growth of the company

An Afternoon Rally. During the early afternoon the St

The gress earnings recently have not shown quite so large an increase as in earlier weeks in the year, and it seems ntirely likely that for several weeks the came condition will prevail. This is not surprising, and does not give any careful market authority any anxiety. If there were no imprease during the remainder of the fiscal year the total showing for the year would be of a large increase.

Missouri Pacific Declines.

Missouri Pacific was one of the weak tocks this morning with a decline of 2 points or so. This caused some sur-prise in view of the excellent December statement, but the movement was con-sidered to be a manipulative one largely. Grangers and Pacifics.

Mr. Ladd had a long consultation with Henry Earle, the acting president of the ompany. Mr. Earle had previously been loseted for half an hour with Charles R Flint, one of the largest stockholders of the company and the establisher of it. After his talk with Acting Presiden Earle, Mr. Ladd said:

Now in Full Possession.

"I am now in full possession here, and I have started to look over the books of the company. From what I can judge my task from such cursory investigation as I have already made, I believe it will be of great magnitude. I suppose it will be at least two days before I shall have any statement to make public in regard to the affairs of this company."

The order appointing Mr. Ladd as temporary receiver of the Crude Rubbe Company was this morning filed in the clerk's office of the United States Circui Court. The order, which was signed by Judge Lacombe, stipulates that the receiver shall file within ten days a bond in the sum of $50,000 with the clerk of the court, to account for all sums coming into his hands. It is further ordered that the creditors of the company shall show cause before Judge Lacombe on Januar 24, 1902, why the appointment of the tem porary receiver should not be continued uwtil a final decree is made.

Plaintiffs and Attorneys. The plaintiffs, Charles R. Flint and Wallace B. Flint, doing business as Flint & Co., are represented by Edward B. Hill as counsel, and William F. Goldbeck has been retained as counsel for the Crude Rubber Company. The complaint and answer in the case of Charles R. Flint and Wallace B. Flint against the Crude Rubber Company, were filed with the clerk of Judge Lacombe's court this morning. The answer signed by Henry Earle as ice president of the Crude Rubber Company is brief and states merely that the defendant corporation admits all the allegations of the bill of complaint and respectfully submits itself to the decree of

The call loan rate does not generally decline after a poor statement, showing a decrease in surplus reserves.

As a matter of fact, the banks at the present time undoubtedly have a larger surplus reserve than they did a week ago. The increases came last week in the last few days, and, therefore, were not given their proper weight in the "average" system employed in making up the statement. There is little doubt that the showing next Saturday will be particularly good. This seemed to be generally understood this morning in the Street, and for this reason there was little disposition to attach much weight to the Saturday figures.
